

This is Your Personal Path Passport

We are thrilled you are joining us. And we promise to deliver something of which you have not likely ever partaken.

You have come to give and take ideas. We know the thoughts you provide will be unique. And we also know you will have a whole bunch of ideas come flying at you.

That is why we are providing you with Your Personal Path Passport. To record the greatest aha moments or super cool ideas you RECEIVE -- worthy of more thought and even implementation in your operation.

Thank you for coming out and howling with us. We wish you buckets of success!

Session 1

Write down (at least) one thing you realize you have not done, have stopped doing, never thought of, or even tried before – but would be useful? (extra points if you write down three to five things)

What do you need to do tomorrow to start (even take one tiny step forward) to do just one thing?

Session 3

---

During this session, you discussed specific problems. Did you find other people with almost or precisely the same situation as you? What were the issues you shared?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

If yes, can you see any benefits of learning and solving that problem together?

---

---

---

---

---

If no, check the Ask the Expert Directory and Offering Gallery (emailed during the event) to see if a kind fellow human can give you a quick answer or solution.

Wrap Up

Using the decision-maker outline, which ideas do you think you can easily implement with the least amount of effort?

One Last Thing

---

Look at all the ideas you received – the ones you find helpful and those that can't be incorporated into your operations. Is there someone in your circle who COULD use any of those ideas? Pass those ideas along to them. Not only do you get to be a hero to someone else, but you also complete the circle of people helping people. It IS the neighbourly thing we do.

The Ask the Expert Directory and Offering Gallery includes the details of fellow Canucks (and Canucks-in-training) who have volunteered to give you their time. And in some cases, free resources, pay-what-you-can services and even profoundly discounted services. If you set up an appointment with them, please honour their generosity by showing up on time and mentioning you heard about them thru Keep The Lights On.

Thank you. We all want to be heroes in our world. And we all want to Keep the Lights On through 2021 and beyond. We wish you buckets of success!
